DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

Claim 1 is objected to because of the following informalities: In claim 1, line 8, the reference numeral "140" must be in parenthesis to avoid confusion in the claim. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 2, 5 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Huber (US patent D185,205).

The patent to Huber discloses the invention as is claimed. Note figures 1 and 2 which show a cleaning tool which includes an elongated bar having a chisel portion at the right end and a curved claw portion at the left end. Intermediate the ends, but closer to the claw portion, a plurality of bristles are provided on a bristle receiving portion. The transverse cross section of the receiving portion is generally square.

Art Unit: 1744

With respect to claim 1, setting forth the cleaner as a cleat cleaner does not distinguish from Huber. Such at most relates to the intended use of the cleaner which is not distinguishing. Further, Huber has all the structure claimed and could be used to clean cleats if so desired.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 3 and 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Huber (US patent D185,205).

The patent to Huber discloses all of the above recited subject matter with the exception of the bar being formed of plastic material and the bristles being formed of nylon.

While Huber is silent as to the particular materials used to make the cleaning tool, the selection of such appears as more a choice of the manufacturer, based on the availability of materials than on any inventive concept. Further, use of plastics for body material and nylon for bristle material is extremely well known. It would have been obvious to one of skill in the art to make the body of Huber of plastics material to provide a lightweight and inexpensive body. It also would have been obvious to one of skill in the art to make the bristles of Huber of nylon to provide lightweight and inexpensive bristles that are durable.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 7-11 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

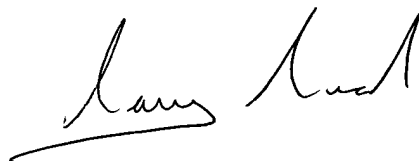

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
